

COVID-19

What to do if your child is dismissed from school, day camp or child care

Coping with COVID-19 can be stressful for families.
Together we can be resilient and reduce spread in households.

The child and caregiver can self-isolate together, which means:

- As much as possible, stay separate from others, including using a separate bathroom and eating meals apart from others in the home.
- Wear a mask and stay 2 metres apart from others as much as possible.
- It is strongly recommended to follow the direction for COVID-19 testing in your letter.

Other children in the household:

- Should stay home from school, day camp or child care until the exposed child returns to school, day camp or child care.
- Do not need to self-isolate in a separate room.
- To reduce the risk of community spread, do not see or play with friends or family who don't live with you.

Unvaccinated/partially vaccinated adults in the household:

- Should work from home where possible, until the exposed child returns to school or child care.
- To reduce the chance of spread at home, choose one caregiver for the exposed child. This caregiver should also not go to work to reduce the risk of spread at work.
- Fully Vaccinated* individuals can continue to go to work, if they pass their daily COVID-19 screening.

If anyone at home develops symptoms or tests positive for COVID-19, everybody in the home must SELF-ISOLATE  and should GET TESTED
Do not go to school, child care, day camp or work to avoid the risk of spreading COVID-19.

* A fully vaccinated individual is an individual who has received their second dose of a two-dose COVID-19 vaccine series or their first dose of a one-dose COVID-19 vaccine series, 14 or more days ago.
